

A Rare Tourist's Plan Of London For The Great Exhibition Of 1851

£1,400

Additional Information

Dimensions	740 × 625 mm
Cartographer	HECK, Johann Georg.
Date	1851
Extra Info	J.G. Heck's Neuester Plan von London und seinen Umgebungen.
Publication	Leipzig: J.J. Weber, 1851. Original colour. Dissected and laid on linen, total 625 x 740mm.
Condition	A good example.
References	-

Product Description

A detailed map of central London, published for German tourists visiting the Great Exhibition of 1851, with the original position of the 'Crystal Palace' shown on the south edge of Hyde Park. Above the map are views of the Crystal Palace and the Houses of Parliament, still under construction and without the Clock Tower of Big Ben, and a caprice based on the royal arms.